Cult Wines from Around the World

California cult wines refer to any of the California wines "typically but not exclusively Napa Valley Cabernets" for which collectors, investors and highly enthusiastic consumers will pay very high prices. The producers of such wines include Araujo, BOND, Bryant Family, Caymus, Colgin Cellars, Dalla Valle, Diamond Creek, Grace Family, Harlan Estate, Hundred Acre, Screaming Eagle, Opus One, Shafer Hillside Select, Penfolds and Sloan too name a few. Cult wines are often seen as trophy wines to be collected or as investments to be held rather than consumed. We have put together a list of some of those rare and wines that have been highly rated by Robert Parker from 98-100 Point wines.

GAJA®

No one man has more profoundly impacted the Italian and international wine trade in the last 50 years than Angelo Gaja. Since 1961, Gaja has simultaneously challenged and honored the traditions of grape growing, wine making, and wine styles of his native Piemonte. His passion for quality and attention to detail are unsurpassed. His wines are distinctly Piemontese, yet they appeal to an international audience. Once he tamed the severity of the native Nebbiolo grape, he turned his attention to Cabernet Sauvignon and Chardonnay. In short time, Darmagi (Cabernet) and Gaia & Rey (Chardonnay) were rivaling the best of Bordeaux, Burgundy and the Napa Valley. In the last decade, Gaja has acquired a Brunello di Montalcino estate in Tuscany and created a non plus ultra estate winery, Ca' Marcanda, in the emerging region of Maremma along the Tuscan coast. No discussion of the world's greatest wines would be complete without Gaja.

2005 Barolo, Gaja Dagromis ...180

One of only two DOCG wines produced by Gaja, Barolo Gromis is produced from the La Morra Crus of Cerequio and Silio as well as fruit from Marenga Rivette. Gromis refers to the original 19th century owners of a Cerequio vineyard purchased by Gaja in 1995. This wine can almost be viewed as a second label but the quality is certainly first class. As it is dominated by Cerquio fruit, this wine more favorably resembles Conteisa. However, the Marenga fruit does add a bit of muscle and intensity. In short, this is a tremendous value with the Gaja name as a guarantee of quality. There were less than 900/6 bottle cases imported into the United States.

2007 Bolgheri, Ca' Marcanda Promis ...85

(55% Merlot, 35% Syrah & 10% Sangiovese)

In 1996 Gaja acquired a second property in Tuscany, Ca'Marcanda, located in Castagneto Carducci in Bolgheri. Of the property's 200 acres, 150 have been planted with new vineyards: primarily Cabernet Sauvignon and Merlot, as well as Cabernet Franc and Syrah. While created from international varieties, the wines are not intended to vanish into the universe of international taste. The wines reflect the best of Bolgheri's terrior: fully ripened fruit with balanced acidity. This wine shows aromas of red and dark fruits: hints of blueberry and blackberries.

2004 Brunello di Montalcino, Pieve Santa Restituta Rennina ...355

"Good deep red. Powerful yet elegant nose shows more berries and minerals and less oak than the Sugarille; this is downright Musigny-like. Then silky, suave and graceful on the palate, with compelling inner-mouth floral perfume and a wonderfully pliant texture. If anything, this wine is even more intense on the suavely tannic, extremely long finish than in the middle, as its underlying minerality gives it outstanding grip and finesse. This is made from a blend of sites while Sugarille is from a single vineyard.

2008 Langhe Rosso, Gaja Sito Moresco ...76

(35% Nebbiolo, 35% Merlot & 30% Cabernet Sauvignon)

Several estate-owned vineyards provide the grapes for Sito Moresco, among which is the twenty-five-acre Sito Moresco vineyard in Barbaresco. The name means "Moresco's site" and refers to the former owner of this vineyard. Sito Moresco combines the complexity and longevity of Nebbiolo with the refinement and accessibility of Cabernet Sauvignon and Merlot; A fruit, elegant taste; good balance in the mouth and a fresh fruity finish with very fine, silky tannins.
